

O3EJS-2

【without if】

仮定法の表現に注意して、和訳しなさい。

We use too much electricity; otherwise we wouldn't need nuclear power plants.

With a little more patience, we could save more energy.

No father could be prouder of his son than I.

That song is too difficult to sing. The best singer could sing it well.

The best singer couldn't sing it well.

But for his great effort, he wouldn't have been as successful a singer as this.

Oh! It's high time his show started.

O3EJS-3

1. () に最もふさわしい関係代名詞を入れて、英文を完成させ、和訳しなさい。

The man () name is Ando is now being introduced on TV.

Mr. Ando is a designer () has designed a lot of famous buildings.

The book () he wrote sells very well.

The house () roof you can see there on TV was designed by him.

Most of the buildings () make people really relaxed were designed by him.

He is the very person () designed Shibuya station.

He is the best designer () our country has ever had.

The man () I often see in the train looks like Mr. Ando.

2. what に注意して英文を和訳しなさい。

What people say and what people do are not always identical.

Mom always explains to me what I should be, but what with homework and house holding chores, I don't have time to think about it. What is worse, I'm not interested in what she says. I'm wondering if she herself is trying to be what she should be. Though it is true that my parents spend what little money they have on my education, I'm not as eager as they expect me to be.