

和訳してみましよう。

Boy: Mom, there's nothing left on the table, though it says "Help yourselves to the dessert."

Mom: Don't cry! Pull yourself together. Ask the server if they have more.

Boy: OK, I will.

Boy: He said that I can have these cookies to myself.

Mom: You see? God helps those who help themselves. The door to happiness won't open by itself.

---

Do you like dogs? Yes. I like them.

Yes. I especially like big ones.

No, but I need one.

-----

When I was listening to English CD, as our teacher told us to do so every other day, I saw my little brother getting dressed. He was wearing his T-shirt the other way round.

Can anybody other than my brother does such a thing?